Bike Safely

The biking rules of the road are the same for children and adults: Ride on the right side, with the traffic. Obey all traffic signs and signal your turns.

- Bikes should have light reflectors. Bikers should wear clothes that make them visible day or night.
- Children should not ride a 2-wheeled bike until they are ready, at about age 5 or 6 years of age. Stick with coaster (foot) brakes until your child is older and more experienced for hand brakes.
- Buy your child a bike that is the right size, not one your child has to "grow into." Oversized bikes are especially dangerous.
- Bikers of all ages need to wear a helmet on every bike ride, no matter how short or how close to home. Many accidents happen in driveways, on sidewalks, and on bike paths, not just on streets. Your children learn best by observing you—whenever you ride your bike, put on your helmet.
- When purchasing a helmet, look for a label or sticker that says the helmet meets the CPSC safety standard.
- A helmet should be worn so that it is level on the head, not tipped forward or backward. The strap should be securely fastened, and you should not be able to move the helmet in any direction. If needed, the helmet's sizing pads can help improve the fit.

Why Get Active?

Improve Your Health!

Regular physical activity can help you lower your cholesterol, blood pressure, and blood sugar levels. It can reduce your risk for heart disease, diabetes, hypertension, osteoporosis, and even some cancers.

Increase Your Energy!

Being physically active increases your general energy level and stamina. You feel less tired! Daily physical activity helps you to sleep better, too, which can improve your mental alertness.

Feel Happy!

Physical activity can fight depression and increase self-esteem. Physically active people cope better with stress and have more fun.

Give Your Kids the Best Start!

By being physically active and encouraging physical activity, parents can protect their children from obesity, depression and low self-esteem. Physical activity helps build stronger kids and stronger families.

Control Your Weight!

Making physical activity a habit helps you achieve a healthy weight. If you need to lose weight, physical activity increases your ability to burn calories and curb your appetite.

Ride Your Bike

Remember the feeling of freedom you felt when you first learned how to ride a bike? It can still feel that way! Like walking, biking is a fun, easy, affordable way to get active and fit.

If you can ride a bike instead of driving a car to work or to go shopping, you can save money on gas while you get your exercise. And it's good for the environment!

If you prefer to ride your bike purely for pleasure, Marinette & Oconto counties have miles of scenic country roads and marked bike paths and trails. Biking can be a fun family activity, too. Children as young as 5 years old can safely ride their two-wheelers on paved paths. Younger children can ride tricycles or sit in bike trailers or safety seats (more than 1 year old).

If you enjoy companionship on your rides, you can join a bike club and plan group rides on weekends.

Biking is usually more strenuous than walking, so you can burn more calories in less time. The more often you bike, the easier it becomes—and the farther you can go!

Active Fun!

Take a Walk

As a physical activity, walking is hard to beat: It's free. It requires no special skills. And most people of any age can do it. It's an activity a family can easily do together. But it's also a great thing to do when you need time by yourself.

Walking to Get Fit

- Walk with your chin up and your shoulders held slightly back.
- Walk so that the heel of your foot touches the ground first. Roll your weight forward.
- Walk with your toes pointed forward.
- Swing your arms as you walk.
- Think of your walk in three parts. Walk slowly for 5 minutes. Increase your speed for the next 5 minutes. Finally, to cool down, walk slowly again for 5 minutes.
- Try to walk at least three times per week. Add 2 to 3 minutes per week to the fast walk. If you walk less than three times per week, increase the fast walk more slowly.
- To avoid sore muscles, start gradually. Over several weeks, begin walking faster, going further, and walking for longer periods of time.

The more you walk, the better you will feel. For more information about walking, go to <http://walking.about.com> or visit your local library.

Play it Safe

Before beginning any regular physical activity program, check with your doctor if you...

- Have heart trouble, high blood pressure, or joint pain
- Feel severe breathlessness or pains in your chest or left side when you exercise
- Often feel faint or have dizzy spells
- Are over 50 years of age and are not used to a lot of physical activity

When you walk, hike, skate or bike outdoors...

- Plan your activity in the daytime or at night in well-lit areas.
- Do not wear jewelry or carry a purse.
- Do not wear headphones.
- Be aware of your surroundings.
- Tell someone where you are going and when you will return.
- Carry a cell phone if you have one.
- Be aware of hunting seasons in wildlife areas. Wear ORANGE!!

Be prepared...

- Bring a bottle of water, to prevent dehydration.
- For sun protection in the summer, use a sunscreen with SPF 15 or greater.
- Wear shoes with thick flexible soles that will cushion your feet and absorb shock.
- Wear clothes that will keep you dry and comfortable. Look for synthetic fabrics that absorb sweat and remove it from your skin.
- For extra warmth in winter, wear a knit cap. To stay cool in summer, wear a baseball cap or visor.

Revving Up You and Your Child's Daily Routine

You can get health benefits from only 30 to 60 minutes of vigorous physical activity five days a week. You can do one activity continuously—for example, walking from 3 to 4 pm. Or you can do several activities in a day—for example, walking 15 minutes at 6:30 am, 30 minutes at noon, and 15 minutes at 8 pm. Physically active children are healthier, happier and do better in school. Kids need 60 minutes of activity a day. Here are ways to get more active:

At Home:

- Vacuum, dust, and sweep at a brisk pace.
- Hide the TV remote.
- Exercise to earn TV time.
- Limit TV time (no more than 2 hours a day and no TV for children under the age of 2.)
- Plant a garden.
- Rake leaves/shovel snow.
- Support each other and be role models.
- March during commercials.

Community:

- Take parking spaces furthest away.
- Use the stairs.
- Walk during lunch hour.
- Take stretch breaks at work.
- Walk/bike when possible to school, grocery store or running short errands.

Walk to the Playground

If you have small children, you may want to walk to a neighborhood park or play lot that has play equipment. Once you're there, don't just watch your kids play at the playground—play with them! Push the swing, run beside the merry-go-round, and climb the monkey bars!

Vary your playground routine: Bring a bottle of soap bubbles to the park and chase the bubbles with your toddler. Bring a jump rope and teach your child how to use it. Take along a pack of sidewalk chalk and play hopscotch. There are dozens of simple outdoor games kids can play that require little or no equipment. If you can't recall how to play games from your own childhood, check out page 12 in this booklet or check out a book on kids' games from your local library.

Encouraging Your Child to Be Active

Children need at least 60 minutes of active play every day. Physically active children are healthier, happier, and better able to succeed in school. Your children depend on you to give them every chance to be active.

Turn off the TV!

- Children who watch too much television are more likely to be inactive and overweight. They do not spend as much time running, jumping, and getting the exercise they need. They also see many commercials for unhealthy foods, such as candy and sugary cereals. For this and other reasons, the American Academy of Pediatrics recommends only 1-2 hours of TV a day for children, and no TV at all for kids under age 2.

Give children something else to do besides watch TV—Walk!

- Make walking a family custom. Take daily walks. Even young toddlers should get out and be on their feet as much as possible. Take a stroller for the little ones, but give them a chance to walk at least part of the way.

Too tired? Here's how to get the energy to be active:

Have breakfast.

Your body needs to recharge after a long night without food. Fasting too long between meals causes fatigue. Breakfast is a great investment in your day.

Drink water.

Many people feel tired when they are dehydrated. Be sure to drink enough water to make your urine pale yellow or almost clear. Carry water with you when you exercise. Drink water throughout the day. Water quenches thirst better than soda or coffee.

Get outside.

Sunlight can wake you up and get you moving. You should get at least 10 minutes of sunshine everyday for your daily dose of vitamin D. While you're outside, take deep, refreshing breaths. Deep breathing can also relieve stress and fatigue.

Get enough sleep.

According to the National Heart, Blood and Lung Institute, most people need about eight hours of sleep a night to feel refreshed and alert. Make sleep a priority for you and your children. Get to bed at the same hour most nights. Avoid habits that can rob you of sleep, such as having heavy meals, caffeinated beverages or alcohol close to bedtime.

Get Active Even When the Weather Doesn't Cooperate

If you're short on time and money, and it's too cold, hot or rainy to take a walk outside, you can create your own private aerobics class in your living room with a "workout" video or DVD. All you need is a TV, a VCR or DVD player, a small area of wood or carpeted floor, and a pair of gym shoes.

Borrow a few exercise videos from your local library and preview them: Do you like the instructor's style and personality? Do you like the music? Does the video explain how to perform each exercise safely? Does it include a warm-up, stretching session and cool-down? Can you imagine yourself doing the exercises on a regular basis? You may have to preview three or four exercise videos to find one you would like to purchase.

GARDENING

Master Gardener Volunteer
Training Program—UWEX
Community Garden—Oconto Elementary School
Faith Baptist Church—Peshtigo (rent a garden plot) (715) 582-3655

Gardening is a great way to get active! You use lots of muscles when you dig, hoe, weed and cut. An hour of gardening can burn as many calories as an hour of jogging. Simply spending time with plants can reduce stress, lower blood pressure, and relieve muscle tension.

And gardening rewards you for your work with beautiful flowers, fragrant herbs and fresh, delicious vegetables! Vegetable gardening can help you cut your grocery bill while improving your family's health.

Gardening is a wonderful activity for children, too. Gardening teaches kids about life science--and a whole lot more. Children who garden also learn responsibility when they take care of flowers or vegetables. They gain self-esteem when they see how their own efforts can produce food or flowers for their family.

Gardening doesn't have to be expensive and you don't have to own a big yard to do it. All you need is a square foot of ground (or large container), some seeds, a trowel, a spade, and a water bucket. Your local library has dozens of gardening books and videos to give you tips and get you going.

General Etiquette for all Trail Users

1. Treat all trail users with respect and courtesy regardless of their sport, speed or skill level.
2. Protect our environment. Stay on the trail.
Do not cut switchbacks or use shortcuts.
3. Stay to the right and pass on the left.
Always look before changing positions on the trail.
4. Share the trail, watch and listen for others.
5. Learn and use appropriate hand signals.
Motorized users often cannot hear voice signals.
6. Respect trail closures; use only trails posted open.
Obey posted signs.
7. Carry out all litter, including your pet's waste.
8. All users yield to horseback riders.
9. When encountering a horse, speak in a calm, pleasant tone so the horse hears a human voice.
Do not hide.
10. The rider knows the horse the best. Expect the rider to advise you, not as a lack of courtesy, but rather with knowledge of the horse's temperament.
11. Downhill traffic yields to uphill traffic and slower riders yield to faster riders.
12. Do not approach, scare, harass or feed wildlife or livestock.
13. Respect private property and the privacy of people living along the trail.
14. Dogs are a potential fright for both people and horses. Pets must be kept on leashes (less than eight feet in length) and under control.
15. Leave flowers and plants for others to enjoy. Do not pull bark off or cut or otherwise damage live trees.
16. Practice low-impact trail use. A wet and muddy trail is more vulnerable to damage. When trail is soft, consider other options.
17. Travel at a safe and controlled speed. Be especially careful when visibility is limited.

JOIN A 4-H CLUB

What is 4-H?

4-H is a volunteer-led organization that reaches boys and girls through small groups called clubs and sometimes in classrooms. 4-H members decide for themselves which projects they want to learn more about. Most projects use hands-on learning experiences to teach subject matter and life skills.

Who can join 4-H?

4-H is open to any youth within the grades of K5-13 (one year out of high school).

Who provides leadership for 4-H?

OUTDOOR GAME IDEAS

Frozen/Statue Tag —

One person is “it” and tags another person who becomes frozen in the position that they were when tagged. In order to become unfrozen someone not “it” must either crawl between your legs or tag you. The game ends when everyone is frozen. The last person frozen is the next “it”.

Kick The Can —

One person is “it” and everyone else hides behind a building. The person who is “it” guards a can (or soft object). “It” tries to sneak around the building, when “it” sees someone “it” calls out their name and they both race back to the can. If “it” gets back to the can first then the other person sits out of the game. If the person whose name was called kicks the can first - everyone who is out of the game is now back in the game and free to hide behind the building again. The last person out of the game is the next “it”.

Flashlight Tag —

One person is “it” and has a flashlight (which stays on at all times). A safe base is chosen. The person who is “it” waits on the base and counts to 50 while everyone hides. The “it” person tries to find the hidiers and shine the light them, calling out their name, before they can run back to the safe base. Each tagged player is sent to the base until the very last player is caught. The last person tagged is “it” for the next game.
