

The Master Gardener Program in Marquette County started in 1991. Over 250 people have been trained since that time, and there are currently 38 certified Master Gardener Volunteers (MGVs) for 2016. The UWEX Educator facilitating the MG Program is Agriculture and Horticulture Agent Scott Reuss.

Post Acute Care Center Garden Renovated

MGVs assisted in renovating the courtyard of a local care center to beautify the area for the residents and visiting families. A phased design for the area was created to allow for instant color followed by future plans for other plant material. The MGV-supervised installation was thoroughly enjoyed by all, including several residents. Staff was left with resources and educated on how to maintain the garden. This project planted seeds of knowledge, plants and blossomed new friendships.

Spring Conference Educates Gardeners

The annual Spring Garden Conference has educated and piqued interests of home gardeners for 21 years. Reaching more than 250 attendees in 2015, this conference is proving to be the spring highlight of our gardening community. Bringing like-minded individuals together to learn and grow from the information presented and each other, a stronger local network of horticulturalists from novice to professional has been created.

Program for Families with Children with Disabilities

Birth to Three parents, children and social workers visited Harmony Arboretum for a program by MGVs focused on gardening and the inclusion of children with disabilities into community settings. Participants enjoyed a garden tour, scavenger hunt, nature related crafts, and the planting of flowers to take home. Simple garden books were available for reference and healthy vegetable snacks were served. Parents appreciated the opportunity to socialize with other parents and to enjoy their children participating in a community event outside of the home.
