Why Eat Fruits & Vegetables ?

As part of an overall healthy diet, the addition of fruits and vegetables has been shown to help reduce the risk of certain types of chronic diseases. This is in addition to the vitamin and mineral content that fruits and vegetables provide as part of daily nutrition.

One of the main reasons for the decreased risk is that when you are eating fruits and vegetables, you are eating foods that are nutrient dense (vitamins and minerals). Conversely, they are naturally low in fat, sodium, and calories and contain no cholesterol. Thus, when you replace other foods with fruits and vegetables you usually have a lower caloric intake, higher nutrient intake, and less sodium and cholesterol in your overall diet. Fresh, non-processed fruits and vegetables are also high in fiber, another important dietary component lacking in many people’s food intake.

This type of diet leads to significantly lower risk of adult onset diabetes (Type II), reduces the likelihood of becoming overweight, and reduces the risk of stroke and other cardiovascular disease. In addition, the antioxidant content of many fresh fruits and vegetables likely decreases your risk of certain types of cancers, particularly mouth, stomach, and colon. Similarly, eating potassium-rich fruits and vegetables helps to decrease bone loss, helps maintain healthy blood pressure, and may reduce the risk of developing kidney stones.

The WIC Farmers’ Market Nutrition Program

The WIC Farmers’ Market Nutrition Program offers eligible WIC families checks to buy fresh fruits, vegetables, and fresh cut herbs at approved farmers’ markets and farm stands.

The dollar amounts are preprinted on the checks. Look for the farmers with the yellow sign posted. They are the ones that can take your WIC checks. Many of them are listed in this publication.

Wisconsin WIC participants are eligible to go to any Wisconsin approved farm stand.

For information contact the WIC program in your county:

What can UW-Extension do for you?

This brochure is just one of the myriad of education-oriented activities that UW-Extension personnel work with throughout the year. The Marinette County UW-Extension office (contact information on front cover) is responsible for this publication, but there are also offices in Florence (715-528-4480) and in Oconto (920-834-6845). All three offices have staff that work in the five program areas of UW-Extension: Family Living; Wisconsin Nutrition Education Program (WNEP); 4-H & Youth Development; Community, Natural Resources, and Economic Development; and Agriculture/Horticulture.

Each program area has an array of topics with which they work over the course of a year. The following are some of the horticultural and agricultural programs and services provided by Scott Reuss, Florence and Marinette County Agriculture and Horticulture Agent, and Linda Warren, Horticulture Program Assistant:

- Plant pest diagnostics
- Nutrient Management (farms & gardens)
- Soil and water sample analysis, in conjunction with the UW Lab System.
- Horticultural demonstrations at the Harmony Arboretum Demonstration Gardens
- Agricultural demonstration plots
- Horticulture topic seminars & workshops
- Agricultural topic seminars, field days, and workshops.
- Individual farm management issues
- Individual horticulture issue discussions
